In reference to New Orleans airtel to Bureau, 4/10/62, concerning the dismissal of charges against the fifteen Episcopal clergymen arrested as Freedom Riders, Capt. [REDACTED] advised on 4/17/62 that there subsequently was local publicity concerning the dismissal of these charges and that some of these clergymen appeared in Jackson protesting that if charges against them were dropped then charges against other Freedom Riders arrested should be dropped. As a result of this Hinds County Judge RUSSELL MOORE, who had not at that time signed the order of dismissal, directed that the clergymen should appear and stand trial as originally scheduled.

Judge Switches Ruling, Ministers to Be Tried

JACKSON, Miss., April 11 (AP).—A racially mixed group of Episcopal clergymen confronted authorities yesterday to protest for "clerical immunity" and found out they would be prosecuted for desegregation activities.

The nine ministers—including the Rev. Robert L. Pierson of New York City, son-in-law of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller—sought immunity from breach of peace prosecution for all "Freedom Riders."

County Judge Russel Moore, who a day earlier had dropped charges against the 15 ministers, rescinded the action yesterday. They were arrested at the Trailways Bus Terminal September 13, 1961.

The clergymen, seeking to speak to Judge Moore about immunity from prosecution, didn't know of his adverse ruling.

Conference Set Up

When faced by the ministers following a court's session, Judge Moore turned and walked out. An aide set up a conference for today.

Judge Moore said there was some misunderstanding about the earlier ruling. "It was unofficial and the change was made in order to uphold the integrity of the court," he said.

The special prosecuting attorney, Jack Travis, jr., had asked that charges be dropped for technicalities and out of respect and admiration for the Episcopal Church.

After a two-hour wait in the foyer of City Hall yesterday the ministers confronted Mr. Travis and asked for an explanation on the change. He explained his position privately, but refused official comment. He said he planned prosecution as scheduled, in May.

"Capricious Justice"

The group spokesman, the Rev. John Morris of Atlanta, Ga., said the action showed the "capricious nature of Mississippi justice." They had no other comment.

Shortly after Mr. Travis issued his statement of clerical immunity Monday, Judge Morris said prosecutors should dismiss charges against all Freedom Riders if they wanted to be consistent in court.

The ministers include four who were not arrested last fall, but all were among the 28 in the "prayer pilgrimage" from New Orleans, La., to Detroit, Mich.

Others in the group are the Revs. Layton Zimmer of Swarthmore, Pa.; Malcolm Boyd of Detroit; Robert Fortna of New York; Robert Taylor of Chicago; Quinlan Gordon of Washington; James Breeden of Boston and Robert Chapman of New York. The latter three are Negroes.

RE: FREEDOM RIDERS
RACIAL MATTERS
BIRMINGHAM DIVISION

On April 12, 1962, FRANK WEEKS, Chief of Police and [redacted] Winfield, Alabama, advised that after the operator of the Rebel Cafe at the Winfield Bus Station was forced by the Interstate Commerce Commission to serve colored and white patrons of the bus line, he closed his cafe. They advised that the bus station no longer has a rest stop at Winfield, Alabama and tickets are purchased at the American Gas Service Station in Winfield from [redacted].

They further advised that buses no longer stop in Winfield except to release and take on passengers and accordingly Negroes would no longer have a logical place to "retest" bus cafe facilities unless they tried to eat in one of the town's restaurants.

ReWFOlet to Director, dated 5/7/62.

The U.S. Supreme Court (USSC) handed down a written Per Curiam opinion on 6/4/62, in the case entitled, "LEVERT H. TAYLOR, ET AL vs. Louisiana", Case Number 773 Appellate, October Term, 1961. A copy of the Court's opinion is enclosed herewith for the Bureau. The first paragraph thereof reads as follows:

"Petitioners, six Negroes, were convicted of violating Louisiana's breach-of-the-peace statute, La. Rev. Stat., 1950, 14:103.1, and were given fines and jail terms by the state court. The Louisiana Supreme Court declined to review their convictions, and the case is here on petition for a writ of certiorari which we have granted."

The Court, in its opinion, stated the only evidence to support the charge was that petitioners were violating a custom that segregated people in waiting rooms according to their race, a practice not allowed in interstate transportation facilities by reason of federal law. The USSC reversed judgments of conviction in the lower court.

The petitioner's brief, referred to in referenced communication, was returned to [redacted] USSC, on 5/21/62.

As this matter has now been terminated in the USSC, no further action is being taken by WFO.

157-387-1426
REC-65 5 JUN 17 1962

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

LEVERT H. TAYLOR ET AL. v. LOUISIANA.

ON PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE SUPREME COURT OF LOUISIANA.

No. 773. Decided June 4, 1962.

PER CURIAM.

Petitioners, six Negroes, were convicted of violating Louisiana's breach-of-the-peace statute, La. Rev. Stat., 1950, § 14:103.1,¹ and were given fines and jail terms by the state court. The Louisiana Supreme Court declined to review their convictions, and the case is here on petition for a writ of certiorari which we have granted.

Four of the six petitioners went into the waiting room customarily reserved for white people at the Trailways Bus Depot in Shreveport, Louisiana, in order to take a bus to Jackson, Mississippi. The Chief of Police of Shreveport approached the four and asked them why they were in the station. They told him they were interstate passengers and wished to purchase tickets and obtain travel information. The Chief told them they could do this in the colored waiting room and ordered them to move on. When the four refused to leave, stating again that they were interstate passengers and asserting their rights under federal law, they were ordered to leave or be arrested. The spokesman of the group then said, "We have no choice; go ahead and arrest us." The police thereupon arrested the four of them. The other two petitioners were then arrested, while sitting nearby in the automobile which had brought the six to the bus station.

¹ In relevant part, § 14:103.1 provides: "A. Whoever with intent to provoke a breach of the peace, or under circumstances such that a breach of the peace may be occasioned thereby: (1) crowds or congregates with others . . . in or upon . . . any . . . public place or building . . . and who fails or refuses to disperse and move on, or disperse or move on, when ordered so to do by any law enforcement officer of any municipality . . . in which such act or acts are committed or by any law enforcement officer of the state of Louisiana . . . shall be guilty of disturbing the peace."

At the trial there was testimony that immediately upon petitioners' entry into the waiting room many of the people therein became restless and that some onlookers climbed onto seats to get a better view. Nevertheless, respondent admits these persons moved on when ordered to do so by the police. There was no evidence of violence. The record shows that the petitioners were quiet, orderly, and polite. The trial court said, however, that the mere presence of Negroes in a white waiting room was likely to give rise to a breach of the peace. It held the mere presence of the Negroes in the waiting room, as part of a preconceived plan, was sufficient evidence of guilt. It accordingly held that the four had violated the state breach-of-the-peace statute and that the other two had counseled and procured the others to commit the crime.

Here, as in Garner v. Louisiana, 368 U. S. 157, the only evidence to support the charge was that petitioners were violating a custom that segregated people in waiting rooms according to their race, a practice not allowed in interstate transportation facilities by reason of federal law.² Boynton v. Virginia, 364 U. S. 454, 459-460. And see Baltimore City v. Dawson, 350 U. S. 877 (public beaches); Holmes v. City of Atlanta, 350 U. S. 879 (municipal golf courses); Gayle v. Browder, 352 U. S. 903 (bus); New Orleans City Parks v. Detiege, 358 U. S. 54 (municipal golf course and park). The judgments of conviction must therefore be Reversed.

MR. JUSTICE HARLAN would grant certiorari and set the case for argument.

MR. JUSTICE FRANKFURTER took no part in the consideration or decision of this case.

² "That there exists a serious and difficult problem arising from a feeling of race hostility which the law is powerless to control, and to which it must give a measure of consideration, may be freely admitted. But its solution cannot be promoted by depriving citizens of their constitutional rights and privileges." Buchanan v. Warley, 245 U. S. 60, 80-81.

SUBJECT: [REDACTED]
INFORMATION CONCERNING

On August 3, 1962, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] California, telephonically contacted the Santa Ana Resident Agency and inquired as to why the F.B.I. had objection to [REDACTED] making a trip to Washington, D. C., and from there down through the South. He continued that [REDACTED] was interested in making such a trip for purely travel purposes and is not interested in the racial problems of other problems of the South. He said that [REDACTED] at the World Travel Bureau, 618 North Main Street, Santa Ana, had told [REDACTED] that he should not make such a trip because the F.B.I. might think he was a Freedom Rider, and the F.B.I. would not approve of such a trip.

[REDACTED] said [REDACTED] is not a trouble-maker and is not looking for trouble, but he would like to know whether it is all right for [REDACTED] to make such a trip. He said if the F.B.I. does not want the boy to make the trip, he will not go, but otherwise he intends to make the trip.

[REDACTED] was advised that the F.B.I. has nothing to say as to whether [REDACTED] does or does not make the trip. He was further advised that the travel agent was in no way authorized to inject the F.B.I. into the problem and that the alleged comments by the travel agent were completely in error. He was told the decision whether [REDACTED] did or did not make the trip is entirely up to his son and to him, and that the F.B.I. has no thought of injecting itself into this decision. He was further told that the F.B.I. has nothing to do with regulating travel and that any statement to the contrary is erroneous and false.

[redacted] World Travel Agency, 618 North Main Street, Santa Ana, California, advised SAs [redacted] and [redacted] on August 3, 1962, the World Travel Agency is in the business of selling transportation and no one is authorized to enter any objection to anyone making a trip. She advised she never heard of any employee under her supervision trying to dissuade any potential traveler from buying transportation, particularly by reference to the F.B.I. She advised it is her desire this matter be corrected as soon as possible.

[redacted] World Travel Agency, advised SAs [redacted] and [redacted] on August 3, 1962, that [redacted] has been attempting to arrange a tour for himself and [redacted]. This tour is to Washington, D. C., and on down through the South. He continued in his conversations with [redacted] he learned [redacted] is very interested in the racial situation in the South and wants to make a firsthand study of it. He continued he personally has lived in the South and he could tell from [redacted] attitude that [redacted] would be looked upon as a Freedom Rider in the South, and because of this attitude, would likely get into trouble. [redacted] continued the parents of [redacted] boy had requested him to try to dissuade [redacted] and [redacted] from making the trip as they felt that [redacted] might get into trouble on the trip.

[redacted] said he told [redacted] he felt that he should not make the trip because he would be looked upon in the South as a Freedom Rider, and the F.B.I. would probably object to him making the trip. He said this was a matter of opinion on his part and he gave it to [redacted] only as a matter of opinion in his effort to convince [redacted] he should not make the trip. [redacted] said his opinion was based on what he considered the role of the F.B.I. should be.

The investigative responsibilities of the F.B.I. were outlined to [redacted]. He was instructed that neither he nor anyone else not employed by the F.B.I. or in official position is empowered to speak for the F.B.I. and that further action of this sort on his part will not be tolerated.

[redacted] said he is very sorry that he told [redacted] what he did. He said he was motivated by a sincere desire to keep [redacted] out of trouble, and by a desire to help further trouble from coming about in the South. [redacted] said he regrettably had not understood the function of the F.B.I., and he realized he erred in using the name of the F.B.I. or in making reference to the F.B.I. under the circumstances.

LA 62-

[redacted] said he will not again make such a statement.

[redacted] furnished the following background and descriptive data concerning himself:

Captain [redacted] Rochester Police Department, on August 25, 1961, said that in connection with the arrest of [redacted] on March 14, 1957, [redacted] in the early hours of that day, was observed marching around in a parking lot on Monroe Avenue in Rochester and carrying a lighted torch. When asked what he was doing, he merely questioned as to what law he was breaking. When Captain [redacted] replied that it was odd that a person would be marching around at that time of the day with a lighted torch, [redacted] gave no reply. [redacted] said that inasmuch as no fires had been started in the area and because there was no explanation for [redacted] actions, he had no alternative other than to withdraw the complaint and recommend to the parents that [redacted] have a mental examination.

[redacted] explained that [redacted] bankbook contained notations of deposits, although unemployed, because of the fact that [redacted] parents did not live in harmony with him and therefore, at their suggestion, paid him a weekly amount to live elsewhere.

Informational copies of this communication were furnished Birmingham and New York in view of leads set forth for those offices in referenced Knoxville airtel.
